Fall Hair Trends Confirm the Cliche: Men are From Mars, Women are From Venus

Top Husband and Wife Stylist Team Share a "He Said, She Said" Perspective on Fall's Hottest Hair Trends

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 21, 2011 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Women frequently shop the hottest new trend or grab a fabulous new pair of shoes, only to come home to find the man in their life is less than thrilled about their new look.

As the leaves begin to change to rich vibrant autumn colors, hair color is following suit. Joshua and Stacia both agree that brighter is better when it comes to fall hair, but what exact color to choose may be a point of contention.

He Said: "The fall season is all about golden blondes. Fall fashion week featured a lot of neon colors, gray hues and thick materials, meaning a creamy, golden blonde complements this new color palate nicely.

She Said: "They say blondes have more fun, but red heads are more memorable and this fall it's time for girls to get adventurous and go red. Bright color has fallen off the map in the past few years, but it is coming back in full force this autumn.

Markets Mixed At Midday As Investors Monitor European Developments

The markets traded mixed during the midday with the Dow slipping 20 points to 10,713 while Nasdaq gained 15 points to 2471 as investors continued to monitor the precarious financial situation in Europe.

Lower Open Over Greek Default Concerns

Fears of a Greek default weighed the markets down to a lower open with the Dow losing 45 points to 10,688. Nasdaq rose 8 points to 2464.

One thing Joshua and Stacia agree on is no matter what color you choose, caring for you hair is a must. They recommend Eufora's Color Locking System. Simply, combine Eufora's Sculpture Styling Glaze and Illuminate Shine Mist in palms and apply to damp hair. Based in Certified Organic Aloe Vera, they work together to seal the cuticle and lock-in your new vibrant fall color.

Along with Joshua and Stacia's "brighter is better" fall philosophy, "bigger is also better." Both agree that voluminous hair is in this fall whether hair is up or down, adding some movement and lift will keep you in style.

He Said: "Classic makes a comeback with the French Twist and Bun. Turn these quintessential favorites into a modern look by adding multitudes of volume. This type of up-do is very fashion forward because the dramatic volume trend encapsulates the general idea for fall, as designers use looser weave patterns, heavier fabrics, bigger belts and more pleats. To achieve the look, tease hair at the crown and then pull it into a low pony tail. Use Eufora's Volume Fusion Spray or Eufora's new Powder Lift™ to create lift at the scalp. Simply twist the pony tail up and secure with pins. Finish the look with Eufora's Elevate Finishing Spray, a workable, medium hold spray that contains ingredients to help improve the health of the hair."

She Said: "It's all about the loose curls and the natural movement of the hair with added volume this fall. To create this natural wavy texture and bring out the natural wave of hair reach for Eufora's Curl 'n Defining Solution, which helps achieve soft, defined, frizz free curls without a crunchy or greasy residue. Combine this with Eufora's Formation Whipped Styling Solution, a versatile styling foam that delivers great hold and control without the harsh chemicals found in most "mousse" type products. Mix products well and scrunch them into the hair to help the waves take shape. For added curl or for those with stick straight hair, set the hair with a curling iron or hot rollers and then use the product to separate the curls and make the texture come alive."
